WHO NEEDS AN ALARM CLOCK WHEN...

The dining hall renovation is on a tight schedule. Construction crews work twelve hours a day, seven days a week to prepare Evans for the students' return in August.

MOVE IT ON OUT!

Until October only squirrels ran rampant about the campus, now crewmen on various contraptions are an everyday sight.

DID YOU CHECK YOUR BOX?

The post office used to be so convenient. You'd get out of class and head down to the Scotland Yard. Your box was on your way so you'd grab your mail and move on. In October, the Post Office was moved to the Hopkins parking lot to make room for the interim dining area. Now most students only check their mail once or twice a week. What a change!

TAP ROOM TANGO

The tap room in Lower Alston was transformed into the Faculty/Special Occasions dining room. As a result, the student murals were put to death by a thick coat of ice blue paint. May they rest in peace.

THE BLUE BEAT

Everyone was used to having Public Safety squished into Rebekah Hall, but this year they found a cute little house on South McDonough recently abandoned by the Office of Development.

twentieth century time capsule

Looking at our campus as we approach the year 2000

WHAT A SITE

Two important landmarks on our campus in 1999 are Rebekah Hall and the Gazebo.

WHOOOO GOES THERE?

Now where does this little owl perch to look down upon us? Why, Buttrick Hall, of course. I'm sure she knows all of our faces by now, do you know hers?

WE HAVE AN INFIRMARY?

The Frances Winship Walters Infirmary, better known as the CLC, has some intricate carvings as well. The Master Plan has its demise in the works. It is scheduled to be demolished this summer along with Alston Student Center.

THE ARCHES

The famous "gothic arches" that no one on campus could find are here in the Rebekah windows, on the Quad side no less. Now don't you feel silly?

STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN
Agnes Scott Hall, better known as Main, sits majestically with its famous tower to adorn it.

THERE WAS A SECRET GARDEN?
Here is our lovely library with secret garden still intact. Soon the garden will be eradicated with the renovation of this building.

UNICORNS ON CAMPUS?
Now whoever noticed these pretty unicorns as they entered our library? Well, there they sit, watching over all our books and memories during the renovation.

MAN ON THE BUILDING!
Who can guess where this beautiful piece of architecture sits? Our little Hermes looks down upon us every time we enter our Alston Student Center from the Quad side. It will be demolished soon to make way for a new and improved student center.

classes

Following in the footsteps of the women before them, the first-years come into the year without any knowledge of what may happen to them. From Orientation to Black Cat, the young women are filled with hopes and expectations for the year and are willing to accept whatever may come their way. Following the traditions of old, each class is uniquely special with its own list of events scheduled to take place throughout the year. The first-years, after surviving orientation, are successfully welcomed by the upperclassmen during Black Cat Week. After learning the ropes from a year's worth of experience, the Sophomores make big plans for Sophomore Family Weekend. With much impatience, they will finally get their rings - proof to the world (and family and friends) that Agnes Scott is now their home. The juniors begin the year with a bang, as they go through many a sleepless night to make sure that Junior Production is the biggest success ever. These ladies will endure yet another week full of chaos in the spring as they bond with their senior cappers during Capping. The women of Agnes Scott will bear tears and laughter, grow to love their fellow classmates they have shared many memories with, and follow in the footsteps of those before them.

Nifty-Fifties Coca-Cola Girls

The first-year students gather around the bonfire in the Amphitheater to practice their song for Black Cat. During Black Cat week, it is traditional for the first-year students to be "broken-in" by the upperclassmen.

SENIORS

Wy, oh, my! How the years fly by! Just yesterday the Class of 1999 trudged through Orientation Weekend and on to our first Black Cat. Today we stand waiting in cap and gown for our graduation day. We may be a relatively small class, but our size has only made us closer Scottie sisters. Through the trials and tribulations of Capping, Sophomore Family Weekend, Junior Production, lost Senior tables, Field Hockey, and omnipresent rain, the Green Berets never said, "Die." We rest assured that the knowledge gained and friendships formed at Agnes Scott will follow each of us down whatever path we choose in life. Now we leave these hallowed halls with bright eyes, confident smiles, and loving toasts to our alma mater. But above all, we are so proud--so very proud--to be the Green Berets.

SPLISH, SPLASH! Upon her engagement, friends of Katya Mason dragged her from Evans to the Alumnae Pond for the traditional "swim."

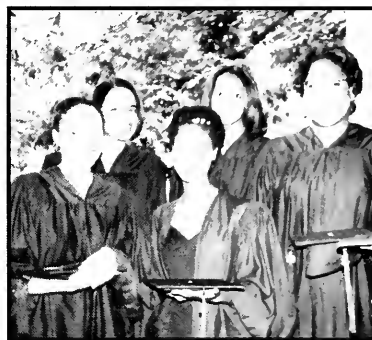

Amy Starr, Jean Exum, and Stephanie White show off that spunky Green Beret spirit!

Amrita Dhamoon lets Budweiser help the Senior class!

Black cat fever

GETTIN' JIGGY WITH IT

Black Cat Field Day was a booty-shakin' good time even if they banned the kegs of beer from the Quad.

HERE KITTY, KITTY !!!

The Green Berets take the cake--and the cat--in the 1998 Black Cat festivities.

Black Cat was continually a time of sisterhood and class dedication for the Green Berets. Over the years, the Class of 1999 bonded through Pots & Pans retaliation, painting banners, practicing class songs, staging Junior Production and finally winning the sacred Black Cat.

A LITTLE TO THE LEFT

TWO THUMBS UP

LaDonna Brown and Macy Geiger give their approval to the evening's bacchanalia--Macy just finds a little help from her pal Jim.

SO-O-O PROUD . . . SO PROUD!
Gemma Hall, Kim McSwain, and Ayoka Shakir cheer on fellow Seniors to victory at the 1998 Field Hockey Competition.

CHUG-A-LUG!!!
Meredith Fields, Cassie Castillo, and Sandy Miller toast to the Class of 1999 with a classic ring drop.

WE ARE THE CHAMPIONS, MY FRIENDS . . .

the undefeated Green Beret Field Hockey Team puts its sticks to the ground—for once.

The obligatory five-drink celebratory picture. 'Nuff said.

as seniors we strive to serve as good examples to other students

POWIPHEWA

Carole Butler intently watches this week's episode of Dawson's Creek. She just can't get enough of that Pacey Whitter.

PIMPS UP, HO'S DOWN

Velvet Jones pimps off his latest collection of Agnes Scotties--he's taking the multicultural approach this year.

PICTURE PERFECT

Stephanie White, Jessica Ulack, Jean Exum, and Betsy Herrington revel before the 1998 Black Cat Formal.

LEAN ON ME

When you're not strong or when you've just had one too many, it's always good to look to your friends for support.

AFTER HOURS ESCORTS

student life

An Agnes Scott woman is an extraordinary creature. She is a scholar, debutante, neighbor, and world-traveler.

The age-old reputation is one of academia with a focus on independence and original thought. Outside the classroom, this intelligence and originality make life at Agnes Scott particularly entertaining during Black Cat Week, Junior Production and Junior Capping. The life of an Agnes Scott student involves many of the traditions of her predecessors. Events such as Senior Investiture, the Ringing of the Bell, and Dunking in the Alumnae Pond are just a few of the many traditions echoed in these pages. These are some of the cherished and time-honored activities that make Agnes Scott unique among other colleges.

Agnes Scott is also a school with an international tradition. Students travel throughout the year to institutions around the world. The education they receive is both memorable and entertaining. Places such as Ghana, Ireland and Honduras are just a few examples of the many places ASC students have encountered during their travels. Sharing our traditions and learning from those of other countries are some of the greatest benefits of an international education.

On their last Black Cat formal, these seniors are blowing the night out with class, style, and a little bit to drink.

Goddesses Lauren Sullins and Jennie Bell break out the togas for costume points during Black Cat.

Becky Smith gives Kelly Stapler a little help as she huffs and puffs and blows her birthday candles out. Notice the lovely birthday tiara!

Currey Hitchens spends the first weekend at ASC arranging the chaos of her room. Boyfriends are always an asset when it comes time to move the furniture.

Yeah! for the Big Sisters who arrived before the new class and spent the evening making "Welcome" signs and cups full of goodies.

Rebecca Baum looks either completely terrified or completely exhausted by Orientation. But doesn't she look cute in her new red tee-shirt?

Proud Big Sisters concentrate on their new sisters' "Welcome to ASC" banners. They wanted their little sisters to have a great first day on campus.

...bonding Time! In their first weekend at Agnes Scott, these first-years formed new friendships as roommates and classmates.

First-years Annea Claire, Kristen Abernathy and Tiffany Reed stick together during the Orientation process and into the semester of classes.

First-Year Fright

"The hardest part of moving in was finding space for all my stuff."

-Meredith Baum

As each new school year begins, anticipation and fright swell in the breasts of students across the country. Nothing, however, compares to the feelings of a college first-year as she steps on the campus she will now call home. For the Class of 2002 it was a day unlike any other, full of nervous introductions and tearful goodbyes. This was the end of their lives as children and the beginning of their lives as independent adults. The weekend long orientation process included a Welcome to Decatur festival, an Honor Code dinner and signing ceremony, and an off-campus excursion. To aid the adjustment process, each new student found herself with a Big Sister and a Focus Group for advising and bonding.

During Black Cat Week, fashion and good sense often takes a back seat to enthusiasm and class spirit. Larissa Mueller is not ashamed of her Green Beret status.

As an Art major, sophomore Gwen Cherry loves to show her creativity through her clothes. Casual or frilly, Gwen lets her fashion tell her mood

Lily Maddatu is a born student as she makes her books and backpack part of her unique style complete with headphones and ASC sweatshirt.

Always with her own funky style, Yu Bai chooses her own sense of fashion complete with leather jacket, furry hat and a bright orange shirt.

irst-years, Kristen Abernathy and Katie McGee prefer the more subdued and classic look, like models straight out of a Crew catalog.

Since they are now twenty-one, Katya Mason, Liza McDaniels, Joy Garwood, and Gemma Hall think they are downright hot.

Some people say you are what you eat. More people say that you are what you wear. Fashion has always been a crucial issue for students at Agnes Scott. As individual people, we all have individual styles: some punk, some retro, some preppy, and some eclectic. Many sported the traditional Scottie "look" of sweatpants and flip-flops. Everyone used their dress to express themselves differently. At Agnes Scott, students took pride in their unique personalities. A walk down Buttrick Drive revealed women in all types of attire, trendy or conservative: cargo pants, fuchsia hair, Abercrombie t-shirts, bell bottoms, tailored suits. A community that was diverse in its ideas and cultures was also diverse in its fashion.

"Everything goes with silver shoes! You can't go wrong."

-Beth Harben

Trend Setters

Back to School

"I have yet to take a class at Agnes Scott that I did not enjoy."

-Sarah McIlrath

The academics at Agnes Scott College are traditionally challenging and promote intellectual independence, academic excellence, and an informed choice. Agnes Scott offers various majors and minors within the liberal arts program. Each semester it offers many opportunities to study abroad, take an internship, cross register, and participate in global awareness programs. While enjoying these perks, each student is encouraged to maintain good academic standards while also upholding Scott's cherished Honor Code. The best part about an Agnes Scott student is her diverse knowledge. She is an expert in all fields of study, from Science to Philosophy to Math to Theatre to the best place to escape school on the weekends.

The perfect place for studying is the library, complete with plenty of quiet and big tables for books.

Stationed in the Buttrick computer lab, sophomore Eve Smith sets out surfing the web to research her English paper.

Kelli Izard and Andrea Harvey have a stress-relieving laugh as they collaborate on a paper. After all, two minds are better than one.

LaGenie Jones quickly glances over her French homework before class begins. She wants everything perfect before the professor calls for her answers.

In the comfort of her bedroom, Deepthi Jayaraj checks up on her notes and reads ahead for class.

Katya Mason and Liza McDaniel find that a having a "Study Buddy" makes the whole ordeal more bearable.

For some, dorm life is a big part of the college experience. Sharing fugus-infested showers and sleep-talking room-mates makes life exciting. Whether studying, sleeping or socializing, something is always going on. This is the place where friendships are formed as late night discussions go well into mid-morning and louder than quiet hours allow. Laughter is always heard, and it is not rare to see someone lose their mind from stress. At Agnes Scott our "dorms like palaces" provide havens from classes and mandatory meetings while leftover pizza boxes, and "man on the hall" remind us of community living. Dorm life can be hectic or calm, but it is always adventurous. Hold on, I think someone's knocking at my door...

"I think dorm life is great except I'm never in my room."

-Yalonda Rice

Rooms To Go

Kendra Wright, Kelli Izard, Courtney Griffin, Andrea Harvey, and Timala Elliott take a much needed study break on the third floor lobby of Inman.

First-year Jennifer McLaughlin wakes up from a nap smiling. Hmm...What exactly was she dreaming about?

Junior Nikki Clark takes a phone break from the perils of homework. It's a great stress reliever to vent frustrations and laugh with a distant friend.

With a sun painted on her face, Goddess Heather Harvey is patiently waiting for Black Cat to begin. Meanwhile, she samples a tempting bag of M & M's.

In a desperate search, Mia scours the floor of her room. After looking here and there, she begs her roommate for help.

Sharri Spears tiptoes down the hall of Rebekah, praying that her pan of dinner doesn't spill. Not only will it make a mess, but she'll be hungry the rest of the night.

Hoochie Mamas unite! Gemma Hall, Carole Butler, Deanna Mullis, and Melanie Spillane pose before strutting their stuff in downtown Atlanta.

Ashlea Mittelstaedt and Jennifer Marcum are staying alive as they do a little disc dancing at the local Atlanta festival Music Midtown.

"Do I have a great body or what?" Liz Meade models one of the many t-shirts she found in a beach-side store.

"Just a few more shots and I win!" Helene Sabel masters the difficult techniques in the game of pool.

"Fake love not war" is the motto of these hard-core party animals Laura Watson, Ellie Curington, and Jennifer Marcum.

Fellow Agnes Scotties, Jennie Bell, Natalie Taylor, and Natalie Pagelsen show their spirit at one of the Tech football games.

Outside Scottville

"I like going to Twain's with friends because it's a great place to just relax."

-Einsley Janowski

College life sometimes feels like a warped version of MTV's "The Real World." Living with seven hundred and fifty other people in one house can cause a search for an off-campus place to chill. There are myriad places in Atlanta where students frequently escape. Many hotspots are the Atlanta Brewhouse, Masquerade, Cafe Diem, and the Farmer's Market. "I think it's refreshing to get off campus and do activities because that is what keeps me sane," said Sophomore, Heather Harvey. Despite the beauty of Agnes Scott, we women must interact with others beyond the Winship iron gates. So the next time you feel the urge to escape from the land of Agnes Scott, think of the wonderful places at your disposal.

Senior field hockey members relax in the sun, confident that victory would soon be theirs. After a bitterly fought battle, the Green Berets prevailed.

Senior Joy Garwood decides to relieve a little stress as she prepares to fight .

Juniors precariously climb into a pyramid to prove their spirit for fellow classmates playing field hockey.

It was a showdown with the Blues Brothers versus the Real Things. They battled out on the field in hopes of making it to the finals.

"We've got spirit! Yes we do! We've got spirit! How 'bout you?" A boisterous group of first-years cheers on their team members.

"You want a piece of me?!?" Macy Geiger and Ashlea Mittelstaedt duke it out in an imitation of the Mighty Gladiators.

A return to tradition. At this year's Black Cat, the forgotten field hockey usurped the regular activity of having a keg and DJ before Junior Production. Sister classes were pitted against each other in their attempts to make it to the finals. Yellows interspersed with greens, and blues mixed with reds.

The final game was a showdown between the Green Berets and The Real Things. Field hockey sticks moved in all directions as the ball flew from side to side on the field. Despite the First-year's attempts, the Seniors emerged as the field hockey victors of 1999. "It was a tough, but exciting game because we didn't expect to win. We thought we were going to lose BIG time," said Senior, Deanna Mullis.

"Playing field hockey was a lot of fun because most of us hadn't played before."

Laughter with color

"I thought that the Blues Brothers decorations were by far the best."

-Marguerite Gant

Color and creativity are what it's all about come time for Black Cat week. This year each class had innovative and original decorations to show their spirit. From the three-dimensional cut-outs of Marge to the Sun Goddesses' decorative throne, the classes showed great talent in their artwork.

"My favorite prank was the Senior's where I was told I was on academic probation. I was having a stressful week with lots of tests and receiving that letter didn't help," said Junior, Vivan Tran.

All the decorations and pranks deserve high accolades for their originality. Black Cat traditions would not be the same without the spirit put into distribution of class colors and banging a few pots and pans.

Operation Decorations has these Seniors quite busy in the lobby of Campbell. Nothing could stop these determined Green Berets.

"Let's make sure that sun is perfectly cut!" First-years admire their innovative decorations in preparation for Black Cat

Ann Winslow always takes a creative approach—not only in the final work but also the application. Do we have another Pollock on our hands?

Jessica Tatum knows what she wants as she begins to decorate one of her first-year class banners. As the red paint splashed, she was ready for any mishaps.

The sophomore class decorated the classrooms and dining hall with their own bright wardrobe. Their Orientation t-shirts were visible from downtown Decatur.

Coke bottles were one of the main decorative items that the first-years used to show their class spirit as they transformed into candleholders.

The foundation of the Hyatt Regency in downtown Atlanta was rockin' and rollin' on October 10, 1998 as the annual Black Cat Formal hit full swing. As the band played favorite dance tunes, couples hit the dance floor and the buffet. The ballroom was overflowing with laughter and music. For the upperclassmen, the dance was anticipated for the excitement and the tradition. For the first-years and transfer students, it was an anticipated event for the rare glamour of a college formal. Jamie Bell, a first-year, commented, "The Black Cat Formal was an extremely exquisite evening that was tastefully presented. But who would expect anything other than that when Agnes Scott is sponsoring the event?"

"The formal was a good excuse to take off the jogging pants and T-shirts to play dress-up!"

-Jocelyn Taylor

Black Cat Magic

Dressed to kill, sophomores Natalie Pagelsen, Natalie Taylor, Lauren Sullins and Jennie Bell make a stunning spectacle in the evening.

Crazy girls, Michelle Goss, Nancy Bennowitz, Shari Gunnin, Elizabeth Eldridge, Casey Parsons, Jackie Nakawaz and Carla Maley, are ready to party hardy

The lead singer of the band gives a good show as she instructs one of the dates on the proper way to perform "The Jerk," or possibly how to look like one.

Sophomore Joy Carter is the lady in silver as she "shakes her groove thang" on the Hyatt dance floor. The best part of the formal is the hot tunes from the band.

With a wink and a smile, Ashleigh Matthews and Becky Smith steal the show. After donning a black wig and a boa, these two look like movie stars.

Hilary Wright and her boyfriend escape to the gardens to enjoy the romantic atmosphere. The warm weather and clear sky made the night perfect.

"Sally Struthers" ministers to a poor starving college student as she begs the audience to take a few cents out of their day to support other deprived students.

Carrie Anderson, masquerading as "Stephanie Balmer," describes the differences between the ideal Class of 2001 and the alternative Class of 2002.

As a side job, astrology professor "Chris Depree" thrills the girls at a local dance club. He got most of his moves from the movie "The Full Monty."

Debbie Eichert, Kate Lanigan and Laura Livingston contribute to the Junior Production without subjecting themselves to public humiliation.

All the South Park kids are present and accounted for as they crack jokes at Mr. Hat and wish for some yummy Cheezy Puffs.

Backstage, the many junior performers watch the skits check off and prepare for their grand debut. To keep busy, they work on class decorations.

Junior Production

"Junior Production was more fun than I expected, but more work, too."

- Amber Pipa

The entire campus was rolling and dancing in the aisles as Black Cat's Junior Production mocked every imaginable topic on campus. Nothing nor was anyone safe when the Class of 2000 proved their bitter wit. The Admissions Office took a beating as "Stephanie Balmer" revealed her own Master Plan to populate the campus with preppy cheerleaders, much like the Class of 2001. A few members of the faculty appeared on the Jerry Springer Show to tell the world of their secret lives. The "men" of the campus did a striptease, the dining hall became an infomercial for Sally Struthers, and Public Safety binged on doughnuts. The English department in particular took a beating as every faculty member was...

"Dr. Cozzens" illegibly writes her top suggestion on the blackboard while "Dr. Ames" contemplates the brilliance of her greatest influence, Siskel and Ebert.

"It's Friday! And there certainly ain't nothin' to do at Agnes Scott." Even the movie "Friday" makes its way onto the Junior Production stage.

The rugby players are none too excited about the new Master Plan idea as they listen with jaded looks and blank stares. "Do we get more money," they ask.

...mimicked in dress, voice and opinions, and also their writing style. In the South Park skit, Kenny was tragically killed by the ASC Shuttle while the school counselor explained the good points of the Gothic Arches. Victoria's Secret displayed their newest line of Angel Bras in the class colors of green, blue, yellow and red. Throughout the show, the homeless Black Kitty leaves her former home in Public Safety to search for people cool enough to keep her. Humorous shots were taken at the frat-girl first-years, the cheerleader sophomores, and the butch seniors. After making her rounds, the Black Kitty finally found the cooler than cool Blues Brothers, who were a perfect match for her smooth style.

"JP kicked ass in so many ways, but two things stick out: Becky Smith stripping, and my brother singing."

World Travelers

"The best part of Ghana was the people, always smiling. They made my stay wonderful."

- Eve Smith

Destination:

WarmWaters. That was the credo of many lucky Scotties, who jetted off to exotic spots like Honduras and Ghana. The biology students explored the cool sea life and the steamy night life of South America. The Global Awareness group lived for the sunny beaches and the warm people of Ghana. Unlike ordinary college students who suffered through chilly winds, the Global Awareness class spent their Christmas break getting tans and wearing shorts. This was an exciting learning environment for both groups. The cultures of the different countries were very diverse, but thrilling nonetheless. These may have been educational trips, but no one ever had this much fun getting an education.

Betsy fits right in with her host family Senegal, Africa. She has become just one of the kids in this close-knit family.

Yeah, these girls are having fun! Study all day, party all night, Kim McSwain and Gusie Kahl are learning all about life in Honduras.

In Roatan, Honduras, Biology student Liz Meade lives out her childhood dream as a dolphin trainer. Next stop: Sea World.

Betsy Morley celebrates Halloween during her fall trip to Dakar, Senegal. That night she got a lot more tricks than she did treats.

Eve Smith, Erica Plumey, and Amelia Tomlinson are loving life at the beach during their visit to Ghana's Cape Coast.

Ahlan Wa Sahlan? In the past year, our fellow Scotty sisters traveled to distant lands. Some hiked the vast green hills of Willock and others traipsed through the labyrinthine corridors of Jerusalem's old city.

"One of my favorite memories of the Middle East was staying at the Jordan University for Women because I had the chance to connect with women my own age in another part of the world and I learned how to communicate without words, said Junior, Trea Caldwell. Each group of students will forever look back on their experience with extreme nostalgia, with one exception--jetlag! The long air flight and time difference took some getting used to, but they managed quite well.

"The Ireland trip was memorable because we had a knowledgeable guide."

-Kristen Whirley

Halloween has never been this much fun as these three Scotties celebrate a belated Fall Break at the Anne Rice Ball.

Nothing like a cold brewsky for these Scotties. Alaine Jones and Susan Buckner chill out in their beach condo over Spring Break.

This obviously isn't Atlanta! These Scotties decided to go skiing up North during their time off.

Breaking Out

"Last year's Spring Break I went to Miami with the Orientation Council."

-Kristine Trias

Forget the books, leave behind the study notes, it's time for some fun and relaxation come Fall or Spring Break. Some students choose to go home or on road trips with friends. Either way a break is always welcomed. What better way to recuperate from mid-terms and regain part of your sanity?

"A favorite belated Fall Break memory for me was playing in New Orleans with all the little vampire boys at the Anne Rice Ball," said Senior, Jennifer Marcum.

Both Fall and Spring Break come at pivotal moments. Academic lives are put on hiatus while students venture beyond Agnes Scott—even if it is just to your hometown of two thousand. (Remember: two thousand can be better than eight hundred!)

At the Dana information desk, Ann Delgado fields questions, answers the phone and protects the building from intruders. Isn't she brave?

As one of the many competent library employees, Kim Nelson takes your money and keeps you informed. She also gets access to new magazines.

As the nice snack shop employee, Mina stands ready to weigh your sandwich and take your number. "Is this off your declining?" she asks sweetly.

Comfy on her perch, Sarah Ryley scans Eve Smith's I.D. card as dinner begins. The hardest part of Sarah's job is facing down the hungry mob at five o'clock.

"So, we're not allowed to open the mail?" These stressed out mail workers look like their working, but they are actually planning to "go postal."

As Bianca Torres looks for new information at the Information Desk, Shannon Carr opts to finish her homework.

As a college student, the worst sight to witness is the gradual depletion of funds in your bank account. As it dwindles away, there is sudden panic and a mad dash to find a part-time job. Many students on campus had that covered when they signed up for a campus job. Left to the luck of the draw, some students took any odd job open: mail room detail, student gardener, library assistant, or the dreaded food service. These were great chances for students to make extra cash in their free time from class, without leaving campus, and interact with students, faculty and staff. There was often time during work hours to do a little studying or joke around with co-workers, things often discouraged out in the rigid "real world."

"Working on campus is very convenient, and they really work around my class schedule."

- Haley Coleman

Money Makers

Part of the "Plan"

"I have to keep in mind how nice the campus will be when they finish."

- Joy Carter

"It's all part of the plan," they said. While students ate on paper plates, woke to the pounding of metal, and trekked to the Hopkins Trailer Park they tried to keep that thought in mind. But, it became tough to accept when the basement of Alston became packed with diners during the usual 15-minute lunch break. Slowly, Agnes Scott students adjusted to the transition. They discovered that the walk to public safety or the post office was good exercise, and it was exciting to watch the gradual resurrection of the new and improved Letitia Pate Evan Dining Hall. Alas, this was all part of the plan that students would live with for the next few years. What exciting changes would happen next? Don't ask.

Trailer park trash. What was once the parking lot of Walters has now become a trailer park for the construction workers, who are moving in.

Public Safety has been kicked off campus. Too disruptive, perhaps? Or maybe the late night parties disrupted President Bullock?

Linda makes a quick visit to the new post office, located way across campus from the rest of civilization. "Quick visit," my foot! It's a hike.

"Squish" went the dining hall as it shrunk drastically in the construction. The move to Alston was a shock to the claustrophobic senses.

What a change a Caterpillar makes! The outer wall of Evans Dining Hall has been removed and replaced by the skeleton of a deck.

The future of parking at Agnes Scott! This mound of dirt will one day be transformed into a grand parking deck. "When" is the question.

Everyday, ten to fifteen minutes before the hour students pour out of Buttrick and Campbell to one of Agnes Scott's many hangouts. There's the "hub" (for those who don't know, it's the quad wall), the smoker's bench, and yes, even lower Alston. Some people choose to not congregate in one of these areas and go spend their quality time elsewhere.

"I like hanging out in the Campbell lab rooms, but it's not by choice. I'm just there all the time," said sophomore, Farah Kashlan. Students can definitely take advantage of the various hot spots at Agnes Scott. If they are not in the mood to be alone, or vice versa, they can change their environment in less than five minutes, by simply turning the corner.

"I like hanging out on my hall because it's so darn cool."

-Betsy Morley

Campus Hot Spots

There is nothing like good food and good company to help these to students stay in the dining hall for an hour at a time, absorbing the cheery atmosphere.

Julie DuVall and Rebecca Jones bask in the afternoon sun while sitting on the quad bench chatting. Sun, friends and an apple are all you really need.

It's just my book, my rocking chair, and me. The gazebo is a favorite place to relax or meet with friends. Even the "Scream" characters liked it.

Chillin' between classes, these Scotties hang out in Buttick to hear the latest gossip as they run into rarely-seen friends.

sitting on the hub wall, these students catch up on what they did over the weekend and enjoy the warm spring air.

Time to relieve a little stress? For these students, nothing does it better than having a quick smoke at the "smoker's bench."

Rebekah Scott Hall is conducive to studying, working, and general productivity--just ask Nikia Clark, Shari Speers, or Yalonda Rice.

Christy Bardis and Helene Sable are just so completely adorable, what more can we say?

Lauren Sullins and Beth Harben help each other with the final touches of their outfits before going out for a night on the town.

Brigitta Johnson and Yurora Saylor unmask their abilities at the Career Planning and Counseling/Senior Halloween Party.

Maiane Jones cradles Carole Butler before the Black Cat Field Hockey games begin. Ice Teeth, Swamp Girl!

Kim McSwain, Meredith Fields, Amrita Dhamoon, Cassie Castillo, Sara Richey, and Betsy Herrington cheer on their fellow Green Berets.

“Friends” (the real thing)

“This has been the place to find people to accept me for who I am at my best and worst.”

- Rebecca Jones

In this “World for Women,” the bonds of female friendships become the blessings in our lives. Many students find their best friends on the halls of the first-year dorms where they share the thrill of freedom and the terror of classes.

Others meet new people during Black Cat Week as they pound pots and pans or practice endlessly for Junior Production. These are the friendships that last forever, the ones built around common interests, common goals and common needs. True friends are the ones to listen attentively, advise wisely, and laugh heartily. They lift us up and ground us in reality. Even if the only time spent together is in the dining hall at lunch, we cherish each moment for the peace and happiness we find.

Going for the Suzie Homemaker Award, Mackenzie Green sews together a quilt for her bedroom next year in her first house.

Helene Sabel and Kim McSwain put to use the Scottie educational skills as keg-watchers waiting for the pickup.

Ashlea Mittelstaedt and Lauren Miller are all business as they get ready to attend the Career Fair.

The search is on for this Scottie, as she peruses career books for the perfect job.

Taking the non-traditional approach to finding a job, these ladies head downtown to Ponce.

There is something to be said about life's abrupt manner in which life can suddenly change once you've become acclimated to a new environment. So don't become too attached to dear ol' Agnes. Your stay here is only a purgatorial one before joining the real world.

"My biggest fear about joining the working world is not finding my rightful place and surviving in it," said Senior, Gemma Philage.

Every year students gradually assimilate into the world of nine to five. They take on internships and externships to get experience and make business connections. Commuting through congested traffic and writing checks for monthly rent usually help students to become more responsible--or they make them cry.

"I really worry whether or not I'll be successful in the career I choose."

-Helayna Hoss

Oh, the places you'll go!

The 1998 Cross Country team had a wonderful season. These seven athletic women excelled well beyond the call of duty. An exceptional Scottie, Carla Maley, won two meets this season and set a new tradition for future Scotties to follow; she qualified for the NCAA Regionals held in Maryland.

In addition to their stellar season, they paved the way for yet another tradition at Agnes Scott. These ladies ran the Scottie Invitational and—won it! The Athletic Department intends to continue this event in future years.

Radiant Results

This year, the Agnes Scott Swim Team graduated from a club sport and enjoyed its first season as a recognized sport. These talented ladies participated in a Division III classification which did not permit any participation in Nationals, even though a few of them would have qualified. They did, however, qualify and compete at the Atlantic States Swimming Championships held in Radford. The history of the new swim team at Agnes Scott already shows the trail of remarkable women.

...but these ladies do succeed and it is sweet! After a triumphant season, these women played against Toccoa Falls College in the post season at the Agnes Scott Invitational. This game was an exciting one which was a grueling game to the finish. In overtime, the Scotties finally pulled out ahead. They finished their season in a tie for second place with Hollins University in the NCAA Division III standings. The soccer women continually contribute to the ever increasing tradition of success in the Agnes Scott Athletics Department.

softball

Karen Woods heads toward the ball that has so recently been hit into the air by the opposing team.

Batting is not the only important part of softball, one must be able to scan the field to see the positions of her fellow players and know who to throw the ball to.

Karen Weyer, senior and veteran of the team, looks for her chance to prevent the opposing team from scoring any runs. Those long legs will get her to the ball and her sharp mind will allow her to send it in the right direction.

The softball team has changed over the years and each year they become close. Not only as a team, but they are close as individuals. Playing in the rain, sliding in the mud, and dealing with injured athletes as well as adapting to a new coach all bring the team closer and closer together.

The dugout serves many purposes for the softball team. There they watch the game, discuss strategies, wait for their turn to bat, cheer on their team, and generally get into the mindset to play their best. All team members come to the game to be supportive.

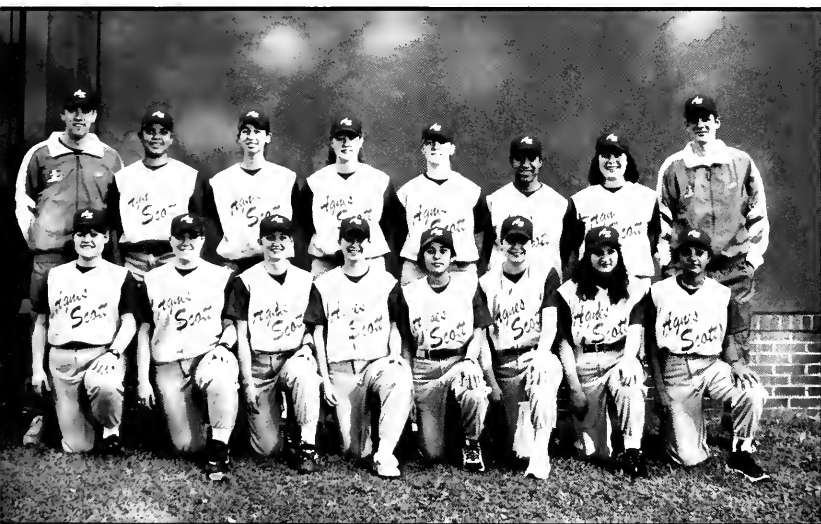

The catcher's job is never done. This dangerous position can only be held by Robin Mask. Her patience and strong knees allow her to keep the game in motion. Missing a catch could be detrimental to the team. What pressure!

Part of our loyal Athletics Department watches Karen Woods slam it into the park. Look at that stance, she's got a homer for sure!

Second Season of Scottie Softball

This year proved to be a struggle for the newly founded Agnes Scott Softball Team. After Coach Jessica Symanski left Agnes Scott, Coach Justin Hayes stepped up to the plate as the acting coach for softball. Coach Hayes was determined to transform these mountains into molehills and make the second year of softball as an NCAA Division III sport a memorable one.

With the implementation of the Master Plan, these athletes found themselves on foreign ground. Practices were held in the field behind Decatur First Baptist Church and game days transplanted these women to the Southeast Athletic Complex in Lithonia. These young, practically homeless players struggle to form a solid tradition of softball success at Agnes Scott.

Jana Lott prepares herself to complete the third out of the inning by catching Karen Weyer's throw before her opponent can reach the plate. A quick hand and a sharp eye is necessary for such skills to be mastered.

The game is over and, regardless of who wins or loses, a good time was had by all and everyone is a good sport. Shaking hands with the other team after the game shows the importance of sportsmanship for all players.

ARE YOU TALKIN' TO ME??!

KILL 'EM WITH KINDNESS

Kim Holland and Melissa Odom resolve this dilemma with a Great Big Bear Hug. Simple logic states that the opponent is unable to score a basket if she is unable to move.

Young Blood

Three lonely upperclassmen found themselves among the ranks of a team full of first years. Melissa Odom, Katie Fidanza, and Kendra Baer became the glue that held this team together. They brought with them the experience and maturity necessary for playing a college varsity sport. In future seasons, this fresh bunch should be able to carry on a winning tradition at Agnes Scott.

Skirted Scotties of Tennis

The tennis team enjoyed a prosperous season with the excellent aid of Coach Tracy St. John and Assistant Coach Alex Ricchi. Atlanta's variety of seasonal changes didn't always provide sunny skies but the tennis team continued to play throughout the season, making Agnes Scott proud.

organizations

The Student Senate of the Student Government Association has traditionally been responsible for establishing student organizations. Student organizations and publications are supported in part by a student activities fee which each student pays each year. All organizations with constitutions approved by the SGA are eligible to request SGA funding. Any student at any time can begin a student organization on campus and can receive funding through SGA if they follow the rules of our Student Government such as having an approved constitution. This process carries on the tradition of freedom and voice at Agnes Scott. We hope to see many new organizations in the coming years. Let's just hope they don't up that Student Activities Fee!

The American Chemical Society comes equipped with props and all. Cathy Creel, Hadeel Masseoud, Deanna Mullis, Devor Savoy, and Amanda Goodnan hold their molecules proudly at one of their many fun meetings.

Mortar Board is a national senior honor society composed of over 150 chapters. They exist to support the ideals of the university, to advance the spirit of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to provide the opportunity for a meaningful exchange of ideas as individuals and as a group. Members are elected from the junior class on the basis of three ideals: service, scholarship, and leadership.

Mortar Board also adjudicates the yearly Black Cat festivities.

Best Buddies

Best Buddies is a volunteer program designed to promote very special friendships between college students and persons with mental disabilities. Buddies participate in one-on-one activities such as bowling and miniature golf.

Membership in the Agnes Scott Rugby Club is extended to all persons on campus who have an interest in playing or otherwise participating in the sport of women's rugby. The club plays a number of games throughout the year, both at Agnes Scott and away. Rugby is a sport that requires teamwork and commitment, and anyone with these qualities is invited to participate, regardless of her level of experience in rugby or other sports.

Jamie Ramirez, Christie Hunt, Kelly Stapler, Meredith Stepp, Pick-Up Player, Erin Elliott, Mari Resendiz, Amber Pipa, Alison Hall, Olivia Valdespino, Mazie Lawson, Reagan Booth, Liz Chandler, Shyla Ervin, Coach Pat Beard (Buddha).

The team should win an award for this super-high lift in the line out. UGA and Agnes Scott have a good relationship and play together often. The poor soul getting a ridiculous wedgie is from UGA, thank goodness.

Ruggerfest is always a painful event, but it is even more so for rookie Meredith Stepp. She is lucky enough to be the main player in the "Rhino" play. I wouldn't want to be her.

fighting for the ball can often times be a knock-down, drag-out kind situation. UGA and ASC work together to release the ball from the hands of their opponents.

“A new coach for a new year. Buddha was good enough to coach us this past year. He was a wonderful teacher and we appreciate his presence on and off the field. Thank you for being there for us, We’re looking forward to next year.” --Amber Pipa

Middle Left: It is an ASC put-in and our team is driving its hardest to win the ball. Eight-man, Kelly Stapler, gives her all. Scrum-half, Liz Chandler cannot grab the ball and pass it out until it can “see the sky.”

Far Left: Excellent eight-man, Kelly Stapler holds up the rear of this scrum while one of our helpful UGA players holds her position as flanker. That’s a great, low scrum, I’m sure our UGA scrum-half will find the ball in her hands.

RETURNING STUDENTS ORGANIZATION

Return to College students are very important members of the campus community. The perspective they lend, both to the classroom and to general campus life, is unique and indispensable. The RSO helps these students to make the sometimes difficult transition into college life at a later age than most traditional students. The organization helps to involve the RTC students in campus life, this enriches both the lives of the RTC students and the college as a whole.

Above: All heads swivel as Sharon Elliott announces that she has something to say.

the profile

The Profile is the college newspaper on campus. Independently published by students biweekly during the academic year, the Profile reports campus news and features columns on fashion, the arts, the Atlanta social scene, and more. It is a vital way in which the students of Agnes Scott can let their voices be heard. All organizations are invited to publish their events in the Profile. All students interested in writing, photography, editing, layout, cartoons, advertising, or circulation are welcome in the organization.

Top: Members diligently discuss plans for the next issue. Putting out a newspaper is hard work and the hours are long, but the rewards are immeasurable.

SOCIAL COUNCIL

There's more to campus life than academics. The Agnes Scott Social Council is very important to the quality of student life on campus. Social Council organizes activities such as band parties for the campus community and area universities. Social Council is also responsible for planning the two annual formals, Black Cat and Spring Fling.

astronomy club

The recently formed Astronomy Club has many resources at its disposal with our wonderful observatory on campus. Our Astronomy Club is affiliated with the Atlanta Astronomy Club as well. They go on field trips to Dark Sky Area. They also help with monthly open houses at our Bradley Observatory on campus. The three parts of these open houses are a lecture, a look at our planetarium and then up to the roof for a look through the telescopes. Dr. Chris Depree is the Astronomy Club advisor, Advisor to the Stars, if you will.

joyful noise

Joyful Noise is a student organization which expresses a ministry through song in the form of traditional gospel music. The music is not specific to a particular religious group or ethnic background but ministers to all persons of faith. Membership is open to all those who enjoy singing praises to God. Two on-campus concerts are performed each year in addition to numerous off-campus performances.

Members of Joyful Noise this year were Jennifer Booker, Mary Godard, Courtney Wilkinson, Sharri Speer, Kareisha Henry, Marie Musngi, Yurora Saylor, Shirnette Chin, La Kiea Bailey, Gemma Hall, Michelle Ford, Melba Cotton, Kolbi Cumbo, Carol Wheeler, Karen Jones, Nikia Clark, Tiffany Turner, La Geanie, Amber Wright, Deanna Mullis, Kimberly Fowler, Erika Blanchard, Jia Gayles, Tara Kirk, Monica Gissentanner, Aleesia Tolliver, Erika Robinson, Kelly Taylor, Clyvia Thomas, and Caroline Boddie.

Witkaze is an African-American affiliated organization which extends its membership to any and all persons of the Agnes Scott community. Since its establishment, members of Witkaze have sought to promote the awareness of African-American culture, achievement, contributions, and history in the community at large and on the Agnes Scott campus. This organization also serves as a support group for all African American students. Witkaze's goals are to promote a diverse community where African-American students can achieve academic excellence and feel that their Afro-centric needs are recognized.

TAND TALL

Here is the talented singing group, London Fog, preparing for their annual winter performance in Rebekah Scott Hall. Each year they keep getting better and better!

London fog

London Fog is an 8 to 12 member vocal ensemble organized for the performance of jazz and quasi-jazz arrangements. This group performs several times during the year at Agnes Scott and in the surrounding community. Auditions are held in the spring for all qualified students.

Members of London Fog include:

Jamila Heard
Theresa DeSandre
Carolyn Stover
Helayna Hoss
Carla Maley
Nicole Burkholder
Lauren Sullins
Julie DuVall
Rebecca Jones
Marguerite Gant

FRIEND AND ADVISOR

The group members of London Fog enjoy spending time with their knowledgeable advisor, Dr. Byrnside.

READY TO SING

These members of London Fog prepare for rehearsal. Nerves start getting jittery soon before a performance, but with these smiles, the women of London Fog should do just fine!

WHAT'S YOUR POINT?

When Dr. Ronald Byrnside makes a point, he really makes a point! Look at that determination on his face, the forcefulness of his gesture. How can you help but to acknowledge that!

DEEP IN THOUGHT

Margo Williams, Carol King, and Lilly Hernandez do their best to take good notes and pay attention to what their president has to say.

faculty

Traditionally faithful ... are words that come to mind when speaking of Agnes Scott's esteemed faculty. Their numerous contributions to the college are the main force behind the success of students. Whether it is talking on the phone late at night to an anxiety-ridden student, extending a paper deadline, or just being a good listener, Agnes Scott's faculty represent a unique part of the campus community. In response to our "tradition" theme this year, the faculty expresses their thoughts on Agnes Scott tradition positively. Agnes Scott College would not possess the traditional values we hold so strongly today without the faithful cooperation and commitment of our faculty.

administration & staff

Staff and Administration covers so many aspects of our life here at ASC. Such a category includes the President, Deans, Admissions, Registrar, Career Planning and Counseling, the Bookstore, Office Services, Public Safety, Food Services and many more. These are often people who everyone knows and looks for like Mary Brown, Dean Hudson, and Dean Sheehey, but it also encompasses those whose names we do not know and the faces that go unrecognized. These people uphold our traditions and keep our school intact past the four short years most of us spend here.

Manager Jeanne Galasso and staff work hard to ensure that all Scotties not only have all their required textbooks, but they make sure they all have fashionable ASC-wear as well.

Director Lucia Sizemore, Assistant Director Meghan Gaskill, and Guest Reservations/Hostess Debbie Black comprise the Office of Alumnae Affairs.

Registrar's Office: Mary K. Jarboe, Cheryl Ferebee, and Rachelle Udell.

Maria Krane heads up the Office of International Education.

Margie Dixon is the Coordinator of Office Services. She handles things all by herself, with the help of a couple Student Assistants now and again. We applaud you, Margie.

Counseling Office: Eleanor Gagon, Gail Bell, Rhea Gordan, Sue Matthews, and Margaret Shurley. These ladies maintain the sanity here as well as offer stress reduction and how to organize yourself workshops.

Business and finance

William Gailey works well with the Administrative Assistant of his department, Beverly DuCharme. Many of us recognize Beverly from the classroom.

William E. Gailey is our Vice President of Finance and he's a snazzy dresser. His office is located on the first floor of Buttrick Hall.

human resources

Wynette Smith is Coordinator of the department. She holds down the fort when Earle is off to another one of his "emergency meetings." What a trooper!

Earle Craft is always busy, busy in the Human Resources Department. As Director of the department he attends to many responsibilities.

faculty services

Faculty Services is one department on campus that allows students' voices to be heard. They are responsible for the semesterly surveys that we fill out for each class and professor. This survey is a wonderful time to voice our opinions and have our own part in "the Administration."

information technology services

Information Technology Services is a vital department on our campus. They allow us to use programs during class such as Powerpoint and the Internet. They assist students with technical problems and keep our network running. This year seems to have been the best so far with the network down only a few times. ITS also employs a number of students. These students do everything from assisting other students to fixing equipment to creating departmental webpages.

ADMINISTRATION

Not ordered: Elsa Pena, Larry Womack, Larry Jennings, Sharonne Thomas, Stacey Bing, Raymond Stelmachers, Tom McIntire, Charles Barber, and Tim Blankenship.

The credit for our beautiful scenery on campus goes to our wonderful landscapers. They ensure that the alums, parents, perspectives, and the students can enjoy lovely days at Agnes Scott.

LANDSCAPING

Not ordered: Jamey Whitaker, Antonio Dill, Elvis Parris, Wellington Kofa, Robert Mack, Mike Johnson, Jamal Lott, and Jeff Offin.

Central Receiving plays a large part in the distribution of this annual you are reading. The books are delivered to receiving and they move the books for us so they can be distributed to the students either through the Post Office or at mealtimes.

SPECIAL PROJECTS AND RELIEF/CENTRAL PROCESSING

Not ordered: Charles Barber, Kenneth Biggles, Ricky Dura, Michael Strawn, Robert Bell, Michael Kordarnani, Conny Winder, Larry Womack, Miguel Niño.

A rare moment captured on film. The cleaning of our beloved Gazebo. So that's how it stays so perfect!

CARPENTRY/PAINTING

Not ordered: Mel Ramsey, Dennis Lewis, Marvin McCrary, Stanley Arnold (Zone Maintenance Technician), Horace Stephens (Zone Maintenance Technician), Willie Sanford, Ron Keaton, Thomas McIntire.

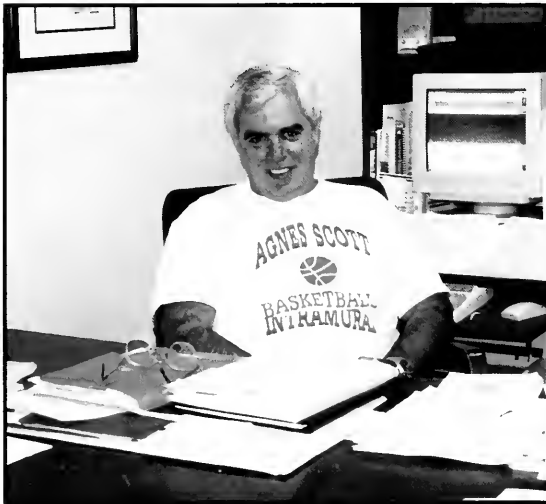

Here we find the hard-working staff that makes the INSIDE of our buildings so clean and comfortable. Many of us see these people every day, yet never know their names. Well, here they are in all their glory. Why don't you thank one of them the next time you see them?!

CUSTODIAL SERVICES

Not ordered: Tim Blankenship, Ruth Hartsfield, Lou Farris, Ed Woods, June Williams, Marjorie Knox, Della Spurley, Travis Nolley, Vickie Crawford, Mehdes Firuneh, Corrie Cash, Lou Ghee, Zapata Cox, John Towns, Maria Ramos, Wynetta Reid.

Justin Hayes, Jodi Fox, and Tracy St. John. Justin just started his job as softball coach. Jodi is our ever faithful athletic trainer and Tracy St. John coaches tennis and cross country.

Page Remillard is in his second year as Director of Athletics. Not only is he the director of the department, but he coaches the swimming team as well. What a renaissance man!

Laura LeDuc is the coach of basketball and soccer. She had a little accident, probably during her strenuous life of exercise, and hurt her arm recently. It's healing well though.

Pat Inglis is facility coordinator and director of summer programs for the athletic department. She is always busy and rarely hanging around the office.

RESIDENCE LIFE

Director Beth McEtchin holds our lives in her hand. Beth has the unfortunate duty of dealing with where all of us will live each year. She deals with roommate problems and pet problems and any other problem in the dorms that you could think of! She is taking over Mollie Merrick's room assigning duties. She has big shoes to fill, but so far she's doing great.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Shuronda Smith, formerly Shuronda Gardner is Director of Student Activities. Shuronda makes life here at ASC fun and enjoyable with movies on the Quad and street parties. Anything cool happening at Agnes Scott must have involved Shuronda Smith in some way, shape, or form. She always asks for student input and continuously has a warm smile on her face. Thanks, Shuronda!

SHOWTIME

Showtime is a committee made up of students that helps the Student Activities department to put on shows and entertain our community. They get to meet all the wonderful people that are hired to perform for us. Here, they hang out with comedian Tommy Davidson before the show. Bobcat Goldthwait also came to entertain us this past year.

Dean of the College

Office of the Dean of the College: Ruth Bettendorff - Associate Dean/Director of Graduate Studies, Edmund Sheehey - Dean of the College, Jim Boynton - Assistant to Dean/Coordinator of Cultural Programs, Pamela Simmons - Secretary to Assistant Dean, Gail Buccino - Assistant Dean/Director of Academic Advising, Paul Ficklin-Alred - Administrative Assistant to the Dean.

Ruth Bettendorff, Director of Graduate Studies, sits in her office across from the location of the Office of the Dean of the College and works hard to create graduate studies programs good for ASC students.

Secretary, Pamela Simmons, and Director of Academic Advising, Gail Buccino work together to ensure that all ASC students get the help they need from the Dean's office.

Dean of students

Administrative Assistant Jan Johnson, Betty Derrick, and Dean Hudson lovingly admire the plans for the new student center in the Dean's Office. You too can see this model in person by stopping by her office.

Jan Johnson and Dean Hudson pose with their puppies in their office. The dogs just HAD to get in the picture.

Acting Assistant Dean Amy Schmidt sits quietly at one of the many dinners she attends.

Here sits everyone's favorite Assistant Dean, Mollie Merrick. We will miss her now that she has retired and we hope she will return often.

office of admissions

The Office of Admissions handles all new students and soon-to-be new students. Their jobs are to make ASC look as good as possible so that prospectives will want to stay. They are located in Rebekah Hall and have a beautiful office to impress all who enter.

Back Row: Kaye Connelly, Joy Prince, Amy Kopkin, and Cindy Newsome. Front Row: Christina Crays, Holly Davis, Stephanie Balmer, and April Keaton.

Holly Davis, Stephanie Balmer, and Christina Crays have a Pow Wow in the middle of one of their all-important prospective weekends. This year they are having a Mystery-type night of fun to entice the students.

food services

Food Service workers include: Mary Bolden, Beverly Crist, Cora Darden, Annie Davis, Willie Dawson, Donna Dragon, Brenda Flannigan, Robert Gay, Betty Hart, Linda Heard, Alice Holliday, Earle Johnson, Grey Maples, Director Pete Miller, Laura Phillips, Eulette Polly, Renita Pope, V. Robinson-Lendon, Valarie Washington, Carrie Wells, Assistant Manager Erika White, Ronald Williams, and Robert Wilson

"Now show me how that works again..."

These Food Service workers are awfully happy to be getting ready to start a meeting. Maybe they're ready to hear about what a great Dining Hall they're going to get to work in next year.

It sure is hard to pay attention during those boring meetings! I bet they can't wait for the time when the snack bar doesn't have to be the cafeteria too!

LIBRARY

Remember those loooong hours of research? Our wonderful librarians certainly make life easier when students are stressing over papers and presentations. The library staff are all smiles as they gear up for renovation

CAREER PLANNING AND COUNSELING

Career Planning and Counseling organizes resume workshops, shadow programs, externships, internship training and interview sessions and lots more..... As Agnes Scott students get ready to spread their wings and take on the challenges of the professional world, they can turn to CP&C for support and advice.

Standing: Ann Brock
Sitting: Gail Bell and Martha Shifflett

president's office

President Mary Brown Bullock, leading Agnes Scott through times of change.....

Above: The President's office staff - Their wonderful sense of humor and cheerfulness shines through even after a hard day's work.

The President's Office, not only the most plush administrative setting on campus, but the most important as well. President Mary Brown Bullock has done many wonderful things since she took the role as President of our college. Her "Master Plan" is going well and the new Dining Hall will be ready for students in the Fall of 1999. Our student center will be demolished this summer and the renovation of our library will begin. Not all of us will be here to see the completion of MBB's "Master Plan", but I, for one, plan to return and see how our lovely campus develops under the eye of President Bullock.

financial aid

The efficient trio - Shawna Cohen, Milnee Susan and Melva Lord. They receive frequent visits from students looking for on-campus jobs or seeking to improve their financial situation in other ways. They must be busy, busy managing all of our bright students' scholarships, grants, and loans.

Shawna Cohen, Assistant Director of Financial Aid, has enough work to keep her tied up throughout the day.

Susan Milne, Services Co-ordinator of Financial Aid, is almost too busy to stop for a photo. It always seems to be a hectic day in Financial Aid.

silhouette

As It Begins...

We started off this year as a group of strangers unified by one goal: the production of the Silhouette. Not knowing what lay ahead of us, we descended into the depth of our task. The road was long as we upheld our tradition of late nights and hard times, and lots of procrastination, however, through our perserverance we emerged not only as coworkers, but as friends. With the completion of our goal, it is time for us to part, hopefully having forged stronger bonds as a community of artists and Agnes Scott Sisters.

So as it begins ..
So It Must End

Agnes Scott 1998-1999 Silhouette Staff: Top Row: Brook Puschaver, Jennie Bell, Stephanie Hartley, Sara Shiver, and Stephen Moseley. Middle Row: Joy Carter, Yalonda Rice, Felicia Render, Tricia Scott, Salimah Rashied, and Crystal Conway. Bottom Row: Ashlea Mittelstaedt, Mahogany Singleton, Smriti Goyal, Nadia Afrin, and Amber Pipa.

Stephanie Hartley and Tricia Scott are studying their assignments for the Silhouette.

Crystal Conway is brainstorming for her articles for the student life section.

Felicia Render is studying her pictures in order to decide which ones will be included in her section.

Part of the Organizations staff, Sara Shiver and Mahogany Singleton, and Faculty section editor, Yalonda Rice take a moment to share ideas between sections. Most yearbook knowledge such as layouts, cropping, and copy is relevant to all sections. We encourage all members to help one another.

Joy Carter studies the different layouts trying to find one that she feels is suitable for the sports section.

Co-Editor, Amber Pipa helps Organizations staff members, Mahogany Singleton and Sara Shiver weed out pictures for the Rugby Team layout.

Jennie Bell, Melanie Spillane and Felicia Render discuss the different layouts available to them for the Student Life Section. Jennie Bell seems to already have found one that she likes and is trying to determine if her assistant editors agree.

Co-Editors, Ashlea Mittelstaedt and Amber Pipa, may look all smiles, but are secretly thinking, "How did I get roped into doing this again?" They certainly do handle the huge workload with a smile.

Co-Editor, Amber Pipa, discusses with her staff ideas for the theme of the upcoming issue of the Silhouette and the deadlines for each section.

Co-Editor, Ashlea Mittelstaedt, teaches her Classes staff member, Tricia Scott, how to crop pictures so that they will be the appropriate size for her layout.

Co-Editors-in-Chief: Ashlea Mittelstaedt and Amber Pipa

Assistant Editor: Stephanie Moseley

Senior Section: Mendi Winstead-Co-Editor

Salimah Rashied-Staff

Student Life Section: Jennie Bell-Editor
Melanie Spillane, Crystal Conway, Felicia D.
Render-Staff

Silhouette and Ads Section: Stephanie Moseley

Brook Puschaver and Smriti Goyal sort through their pictures for the Sports section and decide on which ones they will use. In the background, Sara Shiver decides to take a break from choosing layouts for her section.

Felicia Render and Salimah Rashied sort their pictures and prepare them for cropping.

Co-Editor, Ashlea Mittelstaedt, stuffs an envelope to be sent off for the production of the 1998-1999 Silhouette. It has been a very long and taxing year for this graduating senior.

Jennie Bell waits patiently to receive more pictures for the Student Life section from Co-Editor, Amber Pipa.

Helene Sabel

Congratulations on your graduation, Helene! May life bring you all the joy and happiness that you have brought us.

We love you very much,
Mom and Dad

Jennifer M. Jacob

Dear Jen,

We are so very proud of you and your accomplishments! You have many wonderful and special gifts, and it is our joy to watch as you continue to discover and develop them. It seems like yesterday that you were starting preschool at Bethlehem in Aiken. You couldn't wait to start school! Then as you discovered the joy of learning in elementary, middle, and high school, you always worked to do your best. Now your college years are coming to an end, and you are entering the world endowed with an education for life. May your love of learning stay with you as you move toward your goals to provide health care to those who are in need. Wherever your life journey takes you, always know that we love you very much, and we thank God for giving us the gift of YOU!

Mom, Dad, and Beth

Liza Kerri McDaniel

From a Cutie to a Beauty!

How can you gain strength of character, perseverance, and an engaging inspirational personality?

By graduating from Agnes Scott College and leading us into the next millenium!

Love, Mom, Dad, Sjon, & Family

Yurora Saylor

It's time to fly high,

Your cocoon has finally burst open and it's time for your wings to dry.
Rise above all your obstacles and remember from which you came,
my Madame Butterfly.

With love,
Mama

Jennifer Ann Marcum

Congratulations, Jennifer!

We are all very proud of you and all you have accomplished. Where did all the time go? Our daughter is all grown up and ready to take on the world. Follow your dreams and remember what hard work and perseverance can do. We can hardly wait to see what happens next.

*All our love,
Mom, Dad, and Bob*

your family.*

Heleyna Hoss

Congratulations, Connie!
Words can't express the joy and happiness we feel.
Your great determination and strength have paid off.
As I think of the sunshine you have brought to our lives, only a great smile comes to our faces. May God continue to be with you in all you do. Your future is bright and fulfilling. Continue to strive for

Janet Rauscher

Until you spread your wings, you'll have no idea how far you can fly. We know your adventurous spirit will take you far!

Congratulations & Love,
Mom, Dad, Kate, and Jimi

Cassandra Castillo

Beloved Cassandra,
Querida hija y hermana,

Congratulations on all your achievements. We are extremely PROUD of you. You have touched our hearts in many caring and loving ways, and we think that on your special day you deserve a heartfelt "thank you" for being such a wonderful daughter and sister.

As you enter another threshold in your life, always remain faithful to yourself and your values. Whatever you do, do it with all your heart and soul, but be careful not to mistake pleasure for happiness. For it is neither wealth nor splendor, but tranquility and occupation which gives happiness.

Remember that the future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams, so keep your dreams alive and never surrender them. The secret of contentment is the realization that life is a gift, and prosperity is your ability to use God's ability with wisdom. Always praise the Lord daily for thy life and gifts.

Con mucho amor y felicidad,
Your parents and big-brother Chris

Meredith Fields

So many friends, so many miles, so many laughs, so much love and life still to come. You light up the world wherever you go.
We can't wait to see and share what's ahead for you in this wonderful life.

We love you! Mom, Dad, & Julie

P.S. Betsy, JJ, Sandy, Amrita,
Cassie, Kimmie, and Tiffany -

Susan Buckner

Past, present, and into the future . . . may you continue to find wonder in new beginnings.

Love,
Mom

Rap impresario Sean "Puffy" Combs, also known as Puff Daddy, grew up in Mount Vernon, N.Y. While attending Howard University, he dreamed of becoming a rapper. He moved up the ranks at Uptown Records and then out to form his own label, Bad Boy Entertainment, which sold nearly 12 million albums by 1994. In 1997 Puff Daddy made his long-awaited sole debut with "No Way Out," which featured guest appearances by Notorious B.I.G. and Busta Rhymes. The album spawned the best-selling single "Can't Nobody Hold Me Down" and quickly went platinum.

The Backstreet Boys got together about five years ago when Howie, Nick and AJ met at auditions. They decided to form a group and Kevin heard about them and they got together. Kevin asked his cousin Brian to join, and there you have the Backstreet Boys. The group was named after a big market in Orland, FL, and they won the Viewers Select Award at the MTV Europe awards two years in a row.

Smashing Pumpkins began as a duo in 1988 with Billy Cogan and guitarist James Iha. A bass player and a drummer were soon added and the group exploded in 1993 with the release of the multimillion-selling "Siamese Dream." After some rocky times, the band came back strong and won a MTV Video Music Award. The group went on to receive seven Grammy nominations and notched several victories in the Rolling Stone polls of readers.

Much has been said about Courtney Love's formative years, but little can be confirmed. She has made a game of telling tall tales to the press and then contradicting herself. We know she got her start in the San Francisco area before heading for Los Angeles where she formed her current band, Hole. In 1992 she married Kurt Cobain. Her latest album is "Live Through This."

Terrorist bombs exploded at the American embassies in Kenya and Tanzania in late summer. The Nairobi bomb took place almost simultaneously with the bomb in Dar es Salaam and killed 247 people. Another 5,500 were injured. The Dar es Salaam explosion killed 11 people. A few arrests were made, but American government officials say the man responsible was Osama Bin Laden. While Bin Laden, an exiled Saudi millionaire, was not charged in the bombing, U.S. officials suspect him of financing several terrorist strikes around the world. One of those bombings was the 1996 bombing of Khobar Towers, a U.S. military apartment complex in the Saudi Arabian city of Dhahran which killed 19 U.S. servicemen and injured about 500 people.

As students were preparing to return to school in September, the stock market's Dow Jones Industrial Average was taking a dive. Down 512 points -- or 6 percent -- in one day. It wasn't a pretty picture on Wall Street. Investors saw the stock market make tremendous gains earlier in the year. But during the summer, stocks began to lose value and by early fall the market had lost all that it had gained during the year.

U.S. Senator John Glenn ended his long career in the Senate with a return to space. Astronaut Glenn, 77, who made a pioneering space flight in 1962, returned to space in November 1998, aboard the Discovery on a 10-day mission.

Hurricane Georges was the costliest disaster in the 117 years of the Red Cross relief efforts, topping the $81.5 million the agency spent on Hurricane Andrew. Georges ripped up through the Florida Keys and into the Gulf of Mexico before it slammed into Mississippi and Alabama. Preliminary industry estimates put Georges' cost to insurance companies at $2.5 billion, the third-costliest such storm on record. Georges costs rank behind Hugo in 1989 and the No. 1 hurricane for damage, 1992's Andrew.

Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa, two power-hitters in the game of baseball, were in a battle of home runs during the summer. Both were looking to beat the home run record of 61 set by New York Yankee Roger Maris in 1961. When the dust settled at the end of the season, McGwire, a 34-year-old right-handed hitter from the St. Louis Cardinals, won the home-run record with 70. Sosa, a 30-year-old right-handed hitter from the Chicago Cubs, hit 66 home runs.

The World Cup competition is held every four years. The 1998 games were held in France and it was the French team that won the nation's first-ever World Cup title by defeating Brazil 3-0. More than a million revelers packed the historic Champs-Elysees to celebrate the victory. The broad avenue became the focal point of celebrations and many called the impromptu street party the largest outdoor celebration since Liberation Day in 1944.

The New York Yankees won a record 24th World Series championship with a sweep of the San Diego Padres. In addition to dominating the Series, the Yankees dominated the 1998 baseball season. They finished the year with an overall record of 125-50. The best ever. Scott Brosius is seen here at the plate in the third game of the World Series.

Quarterback John Elway led the Denver Broncos to a 34-19 win against the Atlanta Falcons in Super Bowl XXXIII at Pro Player Stadium in Miami. The Broncos scored 17 points in the first half and then 17 more in the fourth quarter.

President Bill Clinton became embroiled in a White House scandal that led to Congressional hearing on possible impeachment. It all started when Republican attorney Kenneth Starr (below) was appointed as a special prosecutor to investigate the President and Hillary Clinton's failed investment in an Arkansas real estate venture called Whitewater. A grand jury was called and that led to several other investigations that eventually focused on accusations that the President was involved in obstruction of justice and perjury. He was accused of having an 18-month sexual relationship with Monica Lewinsky, then a 21-year-old White House intern. President Clinton eventually did admit to inappropriate behavior, but Congress pushed forward to bring the President to an impeachment trial in the Senate, which ultimately failed.

Vice President Al Gore managed to distance himself from the grand jury investigation of President Clinton's activities. Gore began his political career when he was elected to the House of Representatives from Tennessee in 1976 where he served eight years. He was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1984. He was inaugurated as the 45th Vice President of the United States on January 20, 1993.

Celine Dion was the youngest of 14 children, growing up in a working-class family in Quebec. In her home, two things were important -- children and music. Her parents operated a small restaurant and club where the children could showcase their musical talents. Dion rose from teenage nightclub singer to an award-winning superstar. In 1990 she made her English-language debut with Unison.

Rep. Bob Livingston, a Republican from Louisiana, made a surprise decision to leave Congress just weeks before he was to become Speaker of the House of Representatives. In the wake of the Presidential scandal, he stunned his colleagues when he announced during the debate to impeach President Clinton that he had extramarital affairs that nearly destroyed his 33-year marriage.

Serving his tenth term in Congress, Newt Gingrich was the first Republican to be re-elected Speaker of the House of Representatives since 1928. He was first elected Speaker in 1995 with the promise of enacting a new conservative agenda. He was re-elected in 1997, characterized as arrogant, but also intelligent and effective. Gingrich had described himself as a "conservative futurist."

Pope John Paul II began his 21st year as Pope in the fall of 1998. The 78-year-old pontiff continued to be a champion of economic justice and an outspoken defender of the Catholic Church in Communist countries and remained uncompromising on moral issues. Noted for his energy and analytical ability, he traveled to many countries, preaching to huge audiences. In 1981 he survived an assassination attempt, when he was shot during an appearance in St. Peter's Square.

House Judiciary committee Chariman Henry Hyde, a Republican from Illinois, led the House of Representatives in the impeachment of President Clinton. He then delivered the Articles of Impeachment to the U.S. Senate. A trial to impeach the President was conducted but not before a vote of 43-57 rejected a motion to dismiss the case against the President.

Jesse Jackson was many things to many people. He was a civil rights activist, a Baptist minister, a presidential candidate and confidant of President Clinton. As controversial as he was charismatic, he was always named whenever there was talk of the need for a new African-American leader. He was undoubtedly one of the more striking figures in American public life in the late twentieth century.

In sharp contrast to some of their previous work, K-Ci & JoJo produced their latest album, "Love Always," which has a more subtle approach and at the same time a more romantic theme. One critic said: "There is an almost spiritual quality that comes through here and the music is richer for it. This is a real refinement<sup>9</sup> of their work."

As a blunt-talking reformer in Moscow in the 1980s, Boris Yeltsin rapidly set about renovating the corrupt political scene. In 1991 he was elected president of the Russian Federation, a position he continued to hold after the break-up of the Soviet Union. He continued to press for reform and, in 1993, he received a firm vote of confidence and proposed a new constitution for Russia. He remained in power despite persistent reports of failing health and growing opposition.

When Shania Twain launched her phenomenal recording career five years ago, she decided to initially support her albums with music videos rather than touring. Now, three albums and 15 music videos later, Twain has become one of the top selling female singers in the United States, with sales approaching 17 million albums worldwide. She says the music videos are crucial. "It's really been the only true performance in my career for the last four years, so I think that speaks volumes for what it's done for my career."

In Memory of Liz Chandler

Liz and Toby will forever run across the quad in the waning hours of daylight.

She will echo in the dining hall with her big green day pack, skull cap and strong hands, loud laugh erupting from a small intense body.

She was an outdoors woman in every sense of the word; she told me once, "I am most comfortable with trees, water and high, graceful, purple mountains."

How does one explain her in one page? A bearded lady, goddess, lifeguard, wild woman, feminist, rugger, factory worker, student, a rageful woman, daughter, granddaughter, mom to Toby, mom to all the kids in the world, friend and partner to lots of amazing women, a moon beam constant above the clouds.

So many people touched by her strong hugs, we will all grieve and ache in numerous ways but something remains true and constant.

We love her.

We miss her.

We will always carry her inside,

Her spirit kept alive by the memories we keep.

ALONE IN PARIS!
For my friend, Treah, a promise is a promise!

One more year to go!

First of all, it has been 100 times better than last year. It seems to be getting better and better. Casey, thank you so much for helping us this year. You have shown us things that we didn't even know possible. Next year looks bright even with my faithful Co-Editor, Ashlea, off to the real world. Yalonda and Stephanie: you are superb with deadlines. Thanks so much for getting your pages in on time. It was a few less things to worry about.

Jennie and Melanie: you worked so hard. Thanks for your time and patience. It means a lot to me. Jennie: you've proven yourself as responsible and dependable. I hope you are willing to keep this going with me next year. Mahogany: you came through big time! Anything you want next year? Ashlea, what will I do without you? It's a good thing you will be living so close. I'm afraid I will be calling you all the time. Hope you still care enough to return my calls after you get that degree.

Thank you for being so great. I couldn't imagine having to go through this with anyone else.

Pages, and Croppers, and Staff . . . oh, my!

Well, it's about time! Working on the Silhouette has been one of my most memorable experiences at Agnes Scott. The pictures, stories, and layouts made for a good time, but it was most definitely the people that made the whole ordeal worthwhile. Melanie, you continue to amaze me with your dedication. Brooke, Yalonda, Mendi, and Jennie--you deserve some chocolate cake for finishing so promptly. Mahogany and Stephanie, thanks for coming through. Amber, thanks for giving this book another year--it could not live without you. Alaine, I still can't believe you put up with all my bitching and moaning--and you knew well enough to dish it right back at me. Thanks to everyone else on the staff--every hand helps! Love and laughter to all. Ciao!

Here's looking at you, Agnes Scott!

I'm with my friends, planting another bomb, holding hands, planning the revolution just by being together.
